

All the care you need on one campus

At Parsons Presbyterian Manor, we take a different view on aging. Residents are empowered to experience all life has to offer while we deliver care designed to meet their individual needs and goals.

With all levels of care on one campus, Parsons Presbyterian Manor conveniently offers a continuum of care that is individualized to each person.

Your next step to going home®

On the beautiful Parsons Presbyterian Manor campus, you'll discover independent living, assisted living and skilled nursing. We offer a proprietary Post-Acute To Home® rehabilitation therapy program to bridge the gap between hospital and home.

This means physical, occupational and speech therapies are available seven days a week, and our team will efficiently work with physicians to develop a customized plan of care for each and every resident.

Call today to meet our experienced team of professionals dedicated to your individual goals.

That's what Bob did. Today, he's back on his feet—and feeling better than ever.

After experiencing a bout with pneumonia that left him hospitalized for five days, Presbyterian Manor independent living resident Bob Andrews took advantage of the on-campus PATH® program to build up his strength. With the help of knowledgeable employees who guided Bob through physical and other therapies designed specifically for his needs, he was soon ready to get back to his life.

"I feel even stronger now than before I got sick. It was what I needed. I've been exercising one or two times a week. And when the weather got good, I planted some geraniums and other flowers there in my little planting area," said Bob.
